HOPE THAT THE ASSASSINS WILL BE CAPTURED TODAY.

Unearthing of the Conspiracy Shifts to San Francisco, and the Law's Hand Now Seems Near the Fiends. Tremendous Civic Demand.

OAKLAND, Oct. 3.—Capt. of Detectives Walter Peterson stated tonight that he had information which caused him to believe that the plot to dynamite the Los Angeles Times building was hatched in Oakland.

Capt. Peterson would not say what he had learned but acknowledged that he had telegraphed to the Los Angeles police and that he had received responses from them in the matter which supported his belief.

Capt. Peterson is now actively engaged in following his clues and expects developments in a day or two.

The sure hand of the law has been at work. The searchlight of detective intelligence is at work, and information has been given up its secrets. The martyrs of the Times disaster will be avenged. Information received last night from the Golden Gate region indicates that it may be but a day until the dastards who composed the expedition of ruin and death with dynamite are before the bar of justice.

The officials are moving with great speed, but with unexpected progress. The tremendous rewards offered—amounting in excess of $500,000—by the state and determined populace of Los Angeles, are stimulating the hunt, and have resulted in much valuable information reaching the army of skilled sleuths.

Since the anarchist plot of 1910 has such a sinister and unmarked character, the investigations are large and its ramifications are far-reaching. The facts now in the police hopper have turned out, through the intelligent separation of fact from fiction, a sober story of the cunning of the conspirators. But the police are not giving up the precious truth that means so much to their victims.

A CIVIC AWAKENING.

Yesterday was an awakening for the city conscience. After the shock of the terrible disaster had abated, and citizens returned after the indisputable evidence of its diabolical character had been shown, the people of Los Angeles sent forth a determined demand for the guilty.

The Council led with an offer of $10,000 for the arrest and conviction of the guilty man; the supervisors of Los Angeles county offered a reward of $100,000 for each conviction, and both bodies are prepared to spend $500,000 each to insure justice to the murdered dead and an outraged community.

And this is not all. In two hours Secretary Richardson of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, surrounded by bombs and threats, promised a reward of $50,000 and a reward of $100,000 for each conviction, and both bodies are prepared to spend $500,000 each to insure justice to the murdered dead and an outraged community.

Each of all this is a provisional fund of $100,000 for the defense of Los Angeles against further depredation of the union malcontents, and which will be increased if it becomes necessary. The substance by which the dastards intend to establish themselves on a base of terror and blood has worked a revolution that will end unionism here forever. But no chance will be taken, and the giant defensive fund is to insure that desirable end.

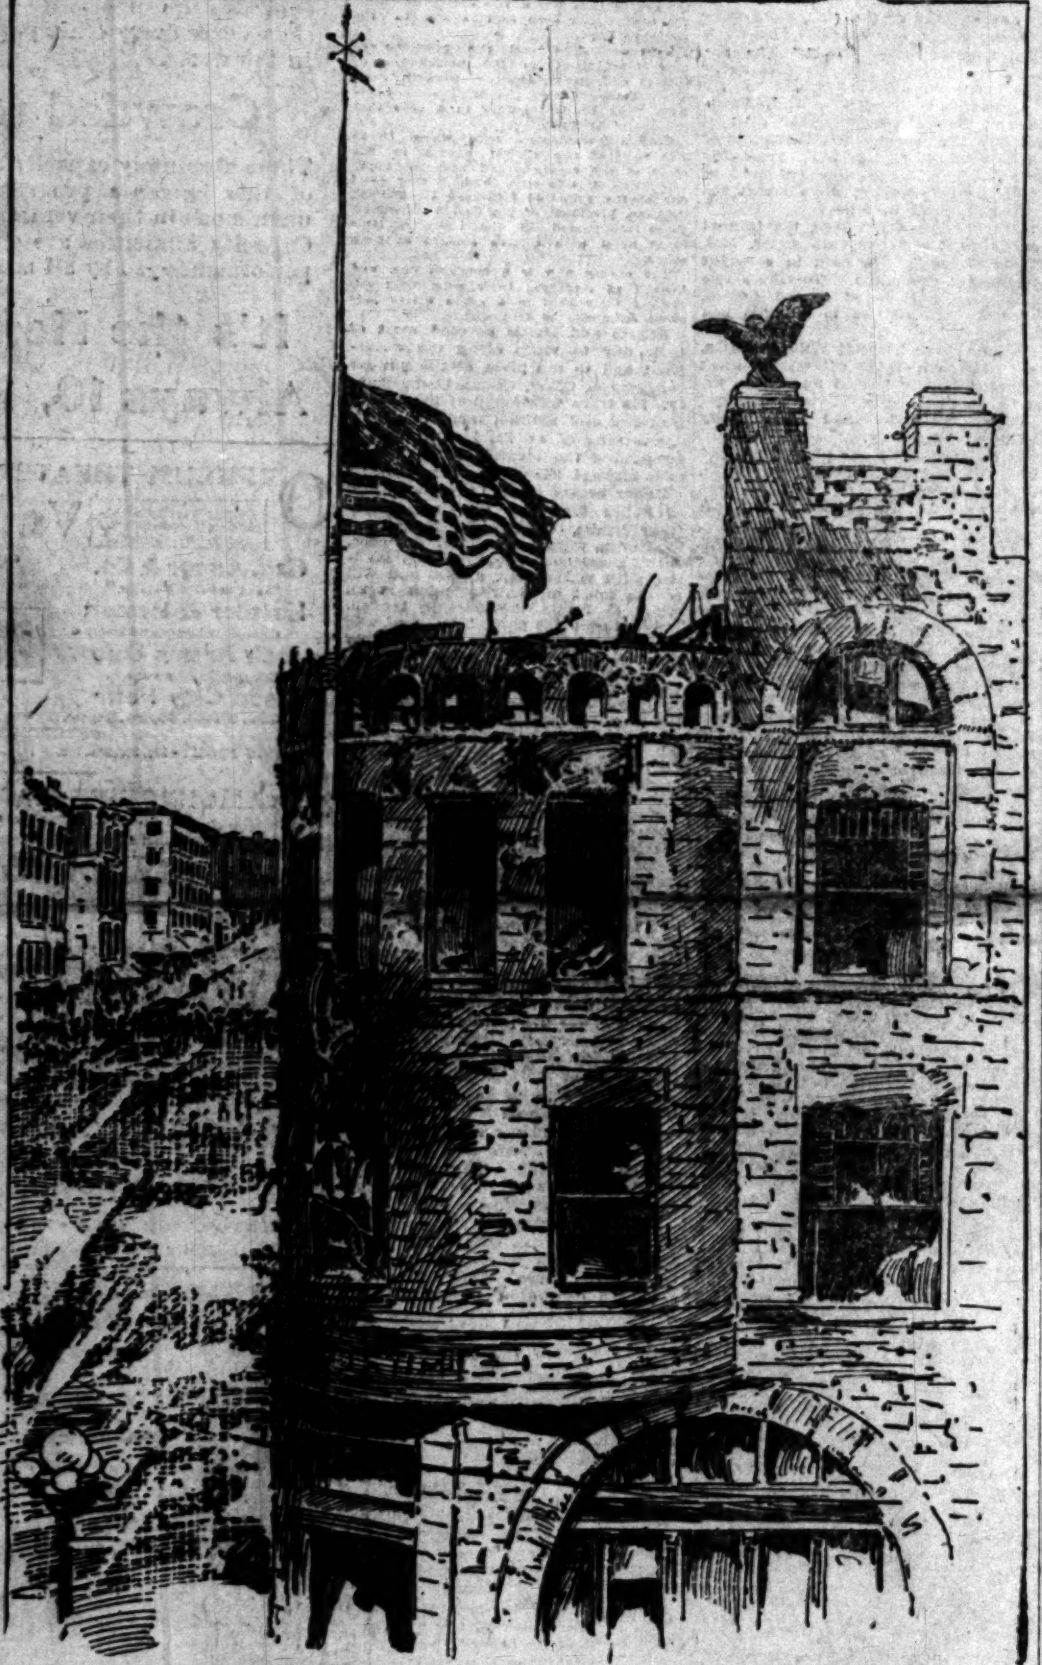

But above and beyond the practical promises is the firm will of a great people to whom liberty is more than wealth or power. That is the gain of twenty-one martyred lives.

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE.

The public mind is not wholly given to vengeance for the terrible crime and the intended crimes that were frustrated. Attention has turned to the relief of the families of those who were made victims of the midnight assault. Officially the Mayor and the Council have asked contributions to a relief fund and the Mayor has designated a committee for it.

A further precaution will be taken. The Council will be asked today to provide an increase of 200 men in the police force. This is not an emergency measure. The patrolmen are needed all over the city and have been needed for some time because while the city has grown by leaps and bounds the guardians of law and safety have multiplied by only a few.

At the Council session yesterday provision was made for an immediate increase of forty patrolmen, ten sergeants and one lieutenant. The Police Commission was unable to appoint more than twenty-one last night, because of the shortage of men.

The Blackened Granite Front of the Times Building.
In whose shadow more than a dozen martyred dead still lie, buried under hundreds of tons of wreckage. The walls look like the ruins of an ancient castle.

There were no more on the civil service eligible list.

The police force was busy yesterday examining the minutes of fact and fiction as brought by zealous persons to their channels. Many of the reports were investigated and found productive of light on the general situation. But the shifting of the scene of investigation to San Francisco and Oakland and neighboring cities in the north, with most encouraging results, has left little opportunity for the local force to anticipate catching the real criminals here.

GETTING NEAR THE FIENDS.

Press dispatches from the north indicate that the progress of the investigation there is convincing that the plot and the plotters were all in one circle, and that the scope of the conspiracy was greater than first appeared. Just what facts justify this conclusion are kept by the officials. In San Francisco the work is in charge of Earl Rogers, representing the industrial interests here; W. J. Burns, who received a commission from Mayor Alexander to use his force in conjunction with Rogers and the San Francisco, Oakland and Sacramento police. Each hour brings them nearer to the hiding fiends if they permit themselves to be taken alive.

The peace of Los Angeles was not desecrated by a labor parade last night. Intimations that some of the more rabid of the unionists meant to defy the authorities were met with extraordinary precautions by the police. In charge of Capt. Lehnhausen.

STRONG FOR FREEDOM.

Veterans of Bartlett-Logan Post Voice Sentiments—Believe Dead Done With Criminal Intent.

At a meeting of Bartlett-Logan Post, No. 6, G.A.R., Saturday evening the veterans present unanimously adopted resolutions referring to the destruction of the Times building and declaring:

"Whereas, we believe the same was done with criminal intent and that those who are responsible should be punished as the perpetrators of crime against society, therefore be it resolved, That we, the members of this post, men who have borne the brunt of battle in the days of the war of the rebellion, and who believe now, as they did then, in freedom and liberty.

HELPED THE SUFFERERS.

Dr. J. Eugene Faby, who has offices in the Auditorium, heard the terrific explosion which destroyed the Times Building and saw the flames burst forth when he looked from his window in the Moore Cliff apartments last Saturday morning. Realizing there would be work for him to do he threw on some clothes and hurried across the way to the Receiving Hospital and offered his services, doing yeoman's work until the last sufferer was attended to.

WHAT'S HIS OBJECT?

Mrs. Alice Withers, No. 2712 Woodland avenue, Coleridge, notified the police yesterday morning that a well-dressed man had appeared at her house and asked to be hidden. When she refused his strange request, he wanted the use of a horse, and hurried away when he was refused. Mrs. Withers called up the police as soon as the man left the yard, and detectives hurried to her home, obtaining a description of him.

JAIL ALLEGED AGITATOR.

Suspect is Picked Up Near the New County Hall of Records by the Police.

C. E. May, said to be an agitator here to inject venom into the local union laborites, was arrested yesterday morning on suspicion. He is now confined in the city jail, but the police said that no evidence of importance had been secured.

May's peculiar form of agitation is to meet with workmen and begin a discussion about automobiles. If the talk turns toward socialism, he starts agitation. He was found near the Hall of Records and arrested when he could not give a satisfactory explanation of his presence in that vicinity.

DASTARDS TRY TRICKS.

Union Laborites Fall With Fake Bomb Try to Fool Workmen At Iron Works.

With the intention, it is believed, to frighten the employees of the Llewellyn Iron Works so that they would stop work, a fake bomb was placed in the warehouse where the "bomb" was placed, they heard a peculiar buzzing. Their curiosity aroused, they searched for the source of the sound and found the machine.

It was wrapped in heavy paper and wound about several times with heavy cord. A knife blade was thrust through the paper and a small hole cut in the wrapping. Then the noise became more audible. Several of the employees ran, but others showed courage by carrying the package outside of the warehouse and notifying the police.

When the police arrived the machine had stopped buzzing and was taken to the Central Police Station. In Capt. Lehnhausen's office the cord was cut and the paper removed, and then the harmless nature of the contrivance was discovered.

The police do not believe it was placed in the building by a joker, but was intended to frighten the men from their work.

"SPIRIT OF LAWLESSNESS."

Church Federation Gives Public Expression To Crime, and Commends City's Action.

The Church Federation of Los Angeles went on record yesterday by adopting the following resolution:

"The council of the Church Federation of Los Angeles, representing all the evangelical churches of this city, hereby gives public expression to its deep sympathy for all sufferers from the terrible disaster that has befallen our city in the destruction of the Times building.

"We deplore and condemn the spirit of lawlessness which seems to have made possible this crime, resulting in the destruction of life and property.

"We most heartily commend the prompt action of our city authorities in their effort to ferret out the causes of this disaster.

FOR CONVICTION.

OVER QUARTER MILLION DOLLARS AS REWARD.

Greatest Amount Ever Offered on American Continent for Capture of Criminals Expected to Lead to the Arrest of Dynamiters.

The total rewards now offered for the arrest and conviction of the dastards who dynamited the Times Building amount to approximately $250,000. The realization that all hope of an accidental case is vain led official and civic bodies to step to the front yesterday with the largest offers of reward that have been made on the American continent. And the end is not yet. There are others to be added. What power money may have in exposing the identity of the dynamiters and those adding them will be exerted to the utmost.

The City Council began the great reward list with action taken soon after it met in special session at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. It was realized that the offer of $10,000 authorized by the Mayor Sunday was inadequate, and the Council authorized City Attorney Shenk to prepare an ordinance for passage today agreeing to pay a reward of $10,000 for each and every person convicted of the terrible crime.

Full means that the Council expects to expend $100,000 in procuring the conviction of all implicated in the conspiracy. The money will be paid out of the fund appropriated to the Mayor, and as often as a single reward is paid the fund will be replenished.

The general expense fund, from which the rewards will ultimately be paid, it is claimed, has $150,000 in it. The Council will gladly pay all this if it will secure the ends of justice.

It does not know whether it will take $50,000 or $100,000, said Chairman Washburn of the Finance Committee, "but if it takes every dollar in the fund it will be the best money Los Angeles has spent in many a year."

The ordinance to be passed today will be an emergency measure, and will be effective at once.

SUPERVISOR OFFER HIGH.

Five thousand dollars reward for the arrest and conviction of each member of the band of conspirators who participated in the destruction of the Times Building was offered by the Board of Supervisors yesterday.

The officials stated that they are willing to pay any amount up to $100,000 to bring the fiends to justice.

The first idea of the Supervisors was to offer a general reward of $25,000 for all of the devilish beings. On the suggestion of Supervisor McCabe, it was decided that an offer for each member of the desperate gang would be more effective.

The Supervisors agreed that the outrageous series of acts had not been committed by one man. They felt certain that at least half a dozen were concerned in the crime and if all of the rewards were claimed they would amount to more than $125,000.

Supervisor Fridman took the initiative in the matter, suggesting that a total reward of $250,000 should be voted. The Chairman declared he would not consider anything less than $25,000. The amendment to offer individual rewards was then adopted.

Supervisor Eldridge advanced the idea that no Americans are guilty of having placed the infernal machine.

"No American could have carried out the heinous act," he said. "He might have thought out the plan, but he would have turned back when he went to that building and the full realization of the destruction which would follow came upon him. I am no judge of my fellow men, if it proves that a citizen of the United States was among those who placed the bomb."

It took F. J. Zeelandelaar, secretary of the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association, exactly two hours of personal soliciting among members of that body yesterday morning to add $25,000 to the total of the awards offered for the apprehension of the wretches who dynamited the Times building. He expects to increase this amount to $50,000 by Wednesday. The remainder of the week will be given over to the raising of a defense fund of $100,000.

The plans for this stupendous undertaking were laid Saturday at a hastily called meeting.

The efforts of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association do not end with the offer of the unparalleled reward of $50,000 for the taking of the unknown murderers. A committee composed of W. J. Traak, J. A. Graves and Randolph H. Miner will today call upon the City Council to make appropriation sufficient to enable the police department to add 200 men to its force. It will be represented to the Council by this committee that such a precaution is absolutely imperative.

EAGER TO BACK GOOD FIGHT.

"From the hundreds of telephone and telegraph messages and letters received in this office today, there is no question that the community is ready and eager to back up the fight for law, order and industrial justice with money and moral support," said Mr. Zeelandelaar last night at the office of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association in the Wilcox building.

"As for our organization," he added decisively, "we shall continue to fight for the principles with which we have been inseparably identified for the past ten years."

"Los Angeles, in my belief, is standing on a volcano. It is the critical time in the history of the city. On behalf of the body of reasonable citizens I have the honor to represent, I appeal to the people to remain calm. Only by so doing can the cause be quelled and the fight won. The members of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association are shoulder to shoulder, and man for man the decent public of the Southland is with us."

SITUATION WELL IN HAND.

"This is no time for mass-meetings and I want to emphasize the fact. The situation is well in hand, and the citizens of Los Angeles can have confidence in the Times and in the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, for both will continue to stand uncompromisingly for industrial freedom in everything that it implies. The lawless element which is disgracing this wholesome and beautiful community shall yet be subdued."

The association will continue to meet the foe as manfully and, believe me, as successfully in the future as in the past. All we ask is the moral, moral and financial support of the public at large. Los Angeles will continue to grow and prosper notwithstanding the dastardly attempt upon the institution which has so manfully defended her rights as a free city.

The blood of our city and loyal workmen shall not have been shed in vain. The most hideous crime in the history of the country has served at least to define the lines of the battle.

"As to the murderers, I believe that if the reward is made big enough one or more of the cringing dastards will be given over to the law within a week. The running down of all will then be inevitable. Such a sum of money is being offered by this outraged community is bound to make somebody talk."

"I believe, and my belief is confirmed by every one with whom I have talked, that the proposed fund of $100,000 for defense can be raised within a week's time."

TO CATCH CRIMINALS.

Assembly Votes Ten Thousand Dollars.

ADOPTS RESOLUTIONS DENOUNCING FIENDISH ATTACK ON THE TIMES.

Sympathy Extended to Gen. Otis and Families of Victims.

SENATE FINANCE COMMITTEE DOUBTS RIGHT TO APPROPRIATE CASH.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES)

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 3.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) In the Assembly this morning resolutions denouncing the fiendish crimes at Los Angeles, extending sympathy to Gen. Otis and to the victims of the explosion, and offering a reward of $10,000 for the apprehension and conviction of the perpetrators, were introduced and passed.

The vote was 12 to 11, the Democrats voting no. All the Los Angeles delegation and others from the south supported the resolutions.

The resolutions were not brought up in the Senate, but were discussed by the Senate Finance Committee tonight and the point made that the Legislature had no power to appropriate money as it was not included in the special call. If they are taken in the Senate tomorrow, this will be the reason.

Transeau, Coghlan, Leach, Malmon and Schmitt made the principal speeches in the House in their favor. Transeau introduced the first resolution which is as follows:

"Whereas, on the morning of October 1, 1910, the people of the State of California were appalled at learning that a terrible crime had been committed in the city of Los Angeles by parties as yet unknown, through the dynamiting and destruction of property of the Los Angeles Times and said city, endangering the lives of many of our citizens, thereby causing an spreading terror and fear in the hearts of people of Los Angeles; and

"Whereas the commission of such fiendish crime is a reflection upon the fair name of the State of California, and is a grave attack upon the peace and dignity of our commonwealth; now therefore,

"Be it resolved that the Legislature of the State of California do most justly deplore the perpetration of such outrage and most earnestly urge that no effort or expense be spared in the apprehension and conviction of the culpable parties; and

"Be it further resolved, that by the fiendish destruction of the property of the Los Angeles Times and the attempted destruction of the home of its owner, the sacred law of civilization that life is safe and property is secure has been swept aside by the infamous hands of anarchy and the fair name of California and her peace-loving and law-abiding citizens have suffered a calamity, the enormity of which demands that neither time, place nor money should be spared in administering the extreme punishment to those responsible for this dastardly deed; and

"Be it further resolved that we extend to Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, and to the relatives of the victims of this crime, our sincere sympathy in the hour of trial."

ANOTHER RESOLUTION.

The second resolution, introduced by Milton Schmitt of San Francisco, was as follows:

"Whereas, a most atrocious crime has been committed in the city of Los Angeles the enormity of which has seldom, if ever, been equaled in the criminal annals of State and which resulted in the sacrifice of lives of many citizens of State and the destruction of valuable property of Los Angeles Times; and

"Whereas, it is fit and proper that the State of California should render possible assistance towards the apprehension and conviction of guilty party or parties; now, therefore,

"Be it resolved that for the purposes aforesaid, the sum of $10,000 is hereby appropriated, one half from the contingent fund of the Senate and one-half from the contingent fund of the Assembly, the same to be paid upon the apprehension and conviction of person or persons guilty of said crime to the person or persons giving information leading to the conviction of the guilty party or parties, and upon approval of the president of the Senate, and the Speaker of the Assembly at such time as the conviction may be secured; the controller is hereby directed to draw his warrants in the sum of $10,000, one-half from the contingent fund of the Senate, payable to the President of the Senate, and one-half from the contingent fund of the Assembly, payable to the Speaker of the Assembly; and the State Treasurer is hereby directed to pay the same."

HIDE CLUBS WHEN CAUGHT SUSPECTS ARRESTED IN PLACE UNDER SURVEILLANCE.

POLICE HOLD THEM PENDING AN INVESTIGATION.

EVIDENCE POSSIBLY CONNECTS WITH DISASTER.

Going to the rooms of an organization called "Anti-Picking" Club by the members and "Picking Club" by the police, Patrolmen Browning and Williams arrested Tom Hearn and H. Nordmark late yesterday afternoon on suspicion after being questioned at the Central Police headquarters the men were locked up in the city jail on a charge of suspicion of felony.

Sufficient evidence to hold the men until they can be given an investigation relative to possible connection with the Times disaster was secured, the police believe, by the finding of two clubs and a revolver which one of the men attempted to hide when the officers burst into the room.

ROOMS UNDER SURVEILLANCE.
The rooms of the club at No. 225 North Broadway, where the arrests were made, have been under surveillance for some time. Yesterday afternoon it was deemed advisable to enter the place and see who had congregated there.

The place was quiet when the officers entered, but in one of the rooms which is used as a sleeping apartment by some of the men, the police found Hearn and Nordmark hiding a map. On hearing footsteps Hearn and Nordmark awoke and spoke to the officers. Officer Browning searched the bed for weapons, but found that none had been placed there. He questioned the two men after they had taken seats on the bed and then suddenly threw them from it and went through it again, finding a revolver and a map.

TAKE FOURTH SUSPECT.

A fourth suspect was arrested at 10:40 o'clock yesterday evening and locked up in the city jail. At the sergeant's desk he gave the name of T. Hearn and said he was a Greek by birth. The police are inclined to consider him a good catch.

Hearn was seen entering the tower entrance of the ruined Times building at the corner of First and Broadway. It was dark in that part of the building, and an undecipherable something about the man's bearing added to the suspicion his action created when he went into that part of the building, where there was nothing to do.

Patrolman Ross walked up to the door and called Hearn out. The young man's answer to the officer's inquiry as to why he was there was directly contrary to what he had said. He gave the name of T. Hearn and said he was a Greek by birth. The police are inclined to consider him a good catch.

CRIME IS DIABOLICAL.

Demagogue in Resolution Denounces Attacking Assassins and Other Crimes.

In an unusual term the executive committee of the Democratic County Central Committee voiced in a resolution yesterday, the feeling of the public as to the motive underlying the dynamiting of the Times Building and the resultant loss of life. The resolution, unanimously adopted, was as follows:

"Whereas the crimes of arson and murder have been recently perpetrated in our midst against the person and property of the Los Angeles Times Building, which at least a score of innocent and unsuspecting workmen and employees lost their lives and their bodies incinerated by the flames which destroyed a half million dollars' worth of property, committed by the hands of cowardly, skulking assassins using dynamite explosives to accomplish their fiendish purpose, now, therefore, be it

"Resolved: That the Democratic Executive Committee in session assembled hereby denounce, in unmeasured terms the perpetration of the outrageous and diabolical and colossal crimes, and express the hope that the swift and certain punishment may overtake the guilty persons to the end that our community may be permanently purged of such undesirable and heinous characters; and we hereby pledge our earnest and active assistance in aiding the officers of the law in bringing the offenders to justice.

"Resolved: That to the widows, orphans and relatives of the deceased, we extend our deepest sympathies, in the hour of their greatest sorrow."

SWEET MEMORIAL.

GRAND FOR THE DEAD.
A memorial to the men who lost their lives in the destruction of the Times Building, the Hollywood Cemetery Association, acting in conjunction with the Times and the Los Angeles Cemetery Association, had the sweet memorial services in the cemetery ruins at intervals Sunday and Monday.

A number of the brave men who lost their lives were members of the Los Angeles Cemetery Association.

"THE TIMES" IMMORTAL SAYS EL PASO "HERALD."

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

EL PASO, Oct. 3. (Exclusive Dispatch.) Declaring that the attack on the Los Angeles Times, Saturday morning, was an attack against civilization, the El Paso Herald said this morning: "The Times is immortal and could not be destroyed."

"The motive, whatever it was, of the damnable crime, was the performance of local origin, but the crime is against the whole world, after the manner of human civilization, and nothing but the suicide of assassins ought to defeat the ends of justice in this case."

"Not in this spirit of revenge or reprisal, but in obedience to the first law of mankind, the preservation of life, men of America will sleep until the beasts that did this thing have been put to death."

"To kill twenty honest workers, to make widows of wives and orphans of their sons and daughters, to destroy a million dollars worth of property—these details, terrible as they are, merely show the unreasoning brutality of such crimes. The plot was directed against the newspaper, against the family of the newspaper's owner and editor, and against the representative of an association of industrial employers. Part of the plot miscarried—not a single one of the victims was in any way responsible for the principle and politics of the newspaper. The Times still lives."

"Stripped of its weapons of steel and iron, its home in ruins, still the Times as a tremendous force in the community, as the living expression of the people's thought and will, stands as the only thing left in the way of a striking proof of immortality."

"There could be no better demonstration of the eternal life of the soul than this. Apart from all material things the newspaper lives, though the body of the paper is a striking proof of immortality."

MARTYRS ARE DOING NICELY.

INJURED SURVIVORS OF BOMB AND FIRE RECOVERING.

Patients, Though Suffering From Burns, Sprains, Cuts and Bruises, Cheerful—Plucky Woman Operator Declares She Will Soon Be Ready To Return To Work.

Inquiries last night made it practically certain that all the injured survivors of Saturday morning's horror are making gratifying progress toward recovery.

The condition of Charles Lovelace, coast editor, which was problematical after his admission to the California Hospital soon after the explosion, had so far improved by 4 o'clock yesterday evening that he was pronounced out of danger.

Lovelace was examined thoroughly by Dr. W. H. Rogers, Dr. F. Thomas and Dr. J. Wingfield last evening, and it was definitely ascertained that he had experienced no internal rupture, and that no bones had been broken. His bruises, though extremely severe, will not long confine him to his bed. It is the opinion of the examining physicians, and his burns will heal in a comparatively short time.

Lovelace's mother, Mrs. M. I. Lovelace of Bowie, Tex., together with B. M. Lovelace, the latter of Oklahoma City, arrived yesterday afternoon and both were on hand to hear the encouraging news which the physicians had to report.

Mrs. Elizabeth Lovelace, the injured man's wife, and her twin sister, Mrs. A. W. Layne, have been in constant attendance upon him. Lovelace's two children, James, aged 10, and Louise, aged 7, were allowed to see him last night.

At the same hospital William Letta, a stranger, both of whose arms were frightfully burned during the escape from the flames, was reported as resting easily and with every chance of recovery.

It is believed by the physicians that he will not be seriously crippled. Letta's nurse declared that he was the most cheerful patient in the hospital.

Mrs. J. B. Ulrich, linotype operator, who fell down the elevator shaft, suffering a deep cut below the knee, together with burns and bruises, was reported as making good recovery.

Mrs. Ulrich is at her home, No. 1728 Oxford avenue.

Although extremely nervous as a result of the shock, she is full of pluck and declares she will be ready to "man" a new linotype in three weeks. Members of her family are not so confident of this, however, and expect her time for complete recovery at five weeks.

Mrs. Ulrich attributes her escape to the chivalrous assistance of one of the men of the pressroom, whom she has not yet identified.

The unidentified "Bill" rescued her after she had fallen back, overcome with fright, to the outside by a paper chute, and dashed with the pain of her wounds. By his aid she made her way to the street.

S. W. Crabill, foreman of the composing room, although taken to his home, No. 377 South Broadway, has been following treatment at the Receiving Hospital for severe cuts and burns, has passed precious little time in his home since Saturday.

"Bill" was on the job at the "make-up" of the four-page Times of the morning of the dynamiting, and he was not seriously injured, but so far recovered that he has announced his intention of visiting the "boys" at the auxiliary plant.

As is noted by Goff, several of the stitches taken in a lacerated hand and the necessary process of healing will prevent the use of his fingers on a machine for at least ten days more.

Charles Mostyn, a proof reader, cut by flying glass, will return to his work today.

The condition of U. S. G. Penta, who broke his right wrist in jumping from a second-story window, could not be learned at first hand. A friend, however, reported that the fracture had been satisfactorily reduced, and that the member would be knitted together within a few weeks. Penta is a linotype operator.

Albert G. Schmitt, Randolph Ross, D. Douglas, August Kotisch and W. Wester, all of whom suffered more or less severe contusions and burns, were heard from yesterday, but no reports are reported as making progress toward recovery.

Fred Campbell, the injured foreman, was reported as making good recovery. Campbell is suffering from a badly wounded leg. He expects to join his comrades in about two weeks.

N. J. Cordary, a broker living at No. 128 Gramercy Place, sustaining a net in the attempt to break the fall of A. Churchill Harvey-Elder, assistant city editor, who died at the Clare Barton Hospital Saturday morning. Cordary has been confined to his home since his injury, but expects to go to his office at room No. 128 H. W. Helman building, today.

BENEFIT FOR WIDOW.
Two of the men who were killed in the explosion, which destroyed the Times Building, F. W. Underwood and J. C. Gallier, were members of Los Angeles Camp No. 402, W. O. G. The former's widow, Mrs. Underwood, and the latter's widow, Mrs. Gallier, are the beneficiaries.

CONDEMNED MURDEROUS ACT.
Baptist Ministers' Conference Pass Resolutions On Death of Strong resolutions were adopted at the Baptist Ministers' Conference yesterday deploring the destruction of the Times Building by dynamite and the consequent loss of life, denouncing the act as a heinous crime, and commending the prompt action of the Mayor and city officials in ascertaining the cause of the calamity.

Sympathy is extended to the families bereaved by the loss of their loved ones, the staff and the management of the Times Building, and the dastardly destruction of valuable property.

"CLOSE BEHIND THE FELLOWS," SAYS ROGERS.

Matter of A Few Days Only Before Dynamite Fiends Will Be Behind Bars—Developments Lead Back to Los Angeles, But Ground in North to Be Covered.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—As reported by Detective William J. Burns and three detectives from the Los Angeles police department, the investigation of the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times plant, which was made in the lobby of this case, has been continued.

While no definite clue has revealed the trail of the dynamite fiends, it was determined that the trail would soon lead back to the Southern City.

That conditions level the relations of men in evidence in the case of Rogers and Burns in the present case. Tonight they are in the St. Francis Hotel with their heads together in case that the world is watching.

Only a few months ago, when Burns was chief of the special agents in the case of the man charged with municipal corruption in the city, Rogers was one of the principal attorneys for Patrick Cuthbert, president of the United Railroads, who was charged with the murder of a man named with further gains at each other.

The enemy now is a common one, and instead of matching their wits, they are pooling their skill in a game where perils are many.

Rogers and Burns devoted most of their day to visits along the waterfront and to the plant of the powder company at Giant, Contra Costa county. No trace was found of the launch, Peoria, and nothing more than evidence already at hand was learned concerning the identity of the men.

Under orders given by acting Chief of Police Wall this morning, Detectives Burke, Cavanaugh, Keala and McGowan were detailed on the case. All of the men were thoroughly familiar with waterfront affairs and will devote most of their attention in the investigation of the case.

It is believed the name "Peoria" was assumed for the purpose of misleading the detectives.

It became known today that two men whose descriptions agree with those of A. L. Bryson and William Morris, the two men charged with the murder of a man named with further gains at each other.

Bryson, who was charged with the murder of a man named with further gains at each other, was charged with the murder of a man named with further gains at each other.

WARM WELCOME EXTENDED IS EVIDENTLY APPRECIATED.

The bankers' banquet last night at the Alexandria set a high mark in the hospitality which the city is extending to the financiers of the nation but one which will be fully borne out by the further festivities.

The delegates expressed some surprise to sit down at a board graced with all the cosmopolitan finish of the "elite East and cosmopolitan Europe" in the Far West. Dr. Burdette called attention to the fact that this is a peerless commonwealth I bid you welcome to the State of California, the biggest thing on earth. Welcome to the middle of the world.

Welcome to the West—the only West and all there is of it. For it is East both ways from California—East toward Massachusetts, and east toward the Orient. Is the water healthy? Sure; nothing but well water in the State. Are we prosperous? We own so many automobiles we are the best pedestrians on the planet. Are we a clever people? We are sharp as the gilded youth who went to the physician. "Doctor," he said, "I want something for my head." "Take it to some of these spendthrift bankers, then, with money to throw at the birds," said the doctor, "I wouldn't have it as a gift."

Welcome to our mountains whose summits have worn their crowns of snow for a thousand years and will wear that diadem of purity a thousand years to come; and welcome to the valleys nestling at their feet, which have never felt the light weight of a snow flake on their breasts.

Welcome to the State with water to soak and oil to burn. Choose our best gifts as you will. We have or bank credits or deposits, and in times of high prices and great prosperity, a nonchangeable volume of money will exert a restrictive influence on the volume of credits, thus operating to maintain a proper ratio of the total deposits available for bank reserves."

GREAT NEW SOUTH.

F. O. Watts, President of the First National Bank of Nashville, and slated to be the next president of the association, spoke at length on the "New South."

Watts classified the development of the South in four divisions, the South before the war, the South during the war, the reconstruction period between 1865 and 1888 and the South at the present time.

The first two periods were referred to as being a time of preparation for a sound growth and necessarily were not periods of great achievement, although they were great factors in the development that followed. Watts spoke of the two later periods as being a time of great advancement in all the industries promulgated in the South, when mines were being opened and cotton mills built, and said that the farmer is getting the highest prices that he has ever received for his produce.

The speaker's remarks contained much humor typical of his southern breeding.

BANKERS ASKED TO VOTE ON PANAMA EXPOSITION.

San Francisco and New Orleans Both Seeking Indorsement of Financiers for Great Celebration Five Years Hence—San Antonio Takes Part in Contest to Get Next Year's Convention.

The great issue before the American Bankers' Association in its present convention, from a popular standpoint at least, will be the location of the Panama Canal Exposition in 1915. The rivalry of San Francisco and New Orleans is furiously interwoven with the politics of the bankers' convention. Although the bankers have no official connection with the Panama Exposition, the problem of the indorsement of the financiers of the country is regarded as one of the most important factors in deciding the contest.

Frank L. Brown has opened headquarters for the San Francisco committee at the California headquarters on Fifth street opposite the Alexandria and is equipped with large quantities of literature, a host of argument that makes instances of converts and a hypnotizing handshake.

SAN ANTONIO—PORT SUMMER.

San Antonio, Tex., is the Port Summer of the situation. The first shot was fired when the members of the delegation put on the San Francisco buttons and joined the California ranks. In turn they expect California to support them in their fight for the bankers' convention of 1915.

NEW ORLEANS—THE CONVENTION.

The politics of the convention seemed to center yesterday about the candidacy of Charles H. Huttig, of St. Louis, and W. L. George, of Aurora, Ill., for the chairmanship of the Executive Committee. The election of a new president of the Secretaries' Association is also a matter of considerable importance as he will probably become a member of the executive council through the action of this convention.

COMMITTEES IN SESSION.

The first day's actual work of the convention was entirely devoted to the organization of the various committees in all, and they ranged from the Fidelity Bonds and the Insurance Committee to the meeting of the executive council. The latter meeting occupied practically the entire afternoon.

THE GUESTS.

The guests at the banquet were: Allen, Alfred L.; Allen, George E.; Allen, W. H.; Alton, John; Anderson, Aiden; Anderson, F. B.; Andrews, J. F.; Andrews, W. H.; Archer, Robert L.; Avery, M. N.; Babcock, Philip S.; Barnett, Blon; Barker, J. H.; Batchelder, C. E.; Batchelder, Henry M.; Becker, A. J.; Bennett, W. H.; Blum, Aug.; Boggs, W. F.; Bolton, George W.; Boyanage, W. A.; Burton, I. members with him. He also urges New Orleans as the more central point for the nation geographically and accessible for the European nations.

San Antonio is going out indirectly to fight the times of San Francisco. If New Orleans stays in the race for the next bankers' convention the San Antonio delegates will insist that the convention be held on the ground that the convention is a move on the part of New Orleans to get the exposition. Robert J. Ball, president of the National Bank of Commerce of San Antonio, and W. F. McCaleb, president of the West Orleans, the Southwest and San Francisco all in the same breath and making converts as they went.

San Antonio is generally regarded as standing head and shoulders above the ranks as he does the bankers' convention. He is a canny Scot and an individual of great power and influence in financial circles. It will be pleasing news to the West to learn that Mr. Porgin and other bankers of the East predict better and easier money conditions with the progress of the fall season.

OUT FOR OFFICES.

The politics of the convention seemed to center yesterday about the candidacy of Charles H. Huttig, of St. Louis, and W. L. George, of Aurora, Ill., for the chairmanship of the Executive Committee. Indigestion Four Years

No relief, although the patient had taken all kinds of medicines and so-called cures. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, the great aid to digestion, brought immediate relief and has been a permanent benefit.

"I had indigestion for four years and took all kind of medicine without benefit. I began using Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey six months ago with good results. I take it regularly as directed and feel like a new man. The only benefit I ever got was from Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and I cannot say too much in its praise. You may add more to this letter if you see fit, as it would not be making my statement too strong. I feel so fine after my four years' suffering."—W. J. Spayne, 1356 Greene Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

When taken at meal time Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey stimulates the mucous surfaces and little glands of the stomach to a healthy action, thereby improving the digestion and assimilation of the food and giving to the system its full proportion of nourishment.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

MUSIC AND THE STAGE

TUESDAY MORNING.

MUSIC AND THE STAGE

The "biggest thing" in the line of theatricals this week in Los Angeles is George Auger in "Jack the Giant Killer" at the Orpheum, while the smallest thing (though by no means the least important) is Ernest Ho-

...who plays Jack. Mr. Auger appears to be in fact tall, but he's so gentle that his giant-like voice with its voice that he tries in vain to be ferocious. "Cute" is the exact word for little Sylvia Hearn, who is Princess Pansy, Jack's sweetheart. The little play is pleasantly humorous and makes a brave attempt at the heroic, and is warranted to please children of all ages.

"The Bison City Four," another new number on the programme, are excellent singers and lively fun.

well yesterday that their experience was some difficulty in getting off the stage at all. Bert Kalmar and Joe Brown do some work in singing and dancing that is truly artistic, especially in the latter. They are light on foot, well traidered, and have both grace and distinction. "The Jack and Jinx Duo" are agile gymnasts in the make-up of a Pierrot. They say nothing, but their pantomime is expressive, and their contortions on the bar are done with pleasurable facility.

These are Kris Tria, European novelty gymnastics; Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Connally in their sentimental one-act play, "Sweethearts"; Top of the World Dancers in "Kris Kringle's Dream"; George McKay and John Cantwell in their satirical skit, "On the Grand White Way." London's Municipal Expenses

London's public income and expenditure are so enormous that it is only when they are seen together in tabular form that their gigantic size can be appreciated.

In one year the public authorities receive about 65,000,000, the bulk of which is spent. The of the year 1907-8 show the following receipts of the County Council, excluding loans, were £11,392,375, the City Corporation's receipts amounted to £1,238,479 of which £434,886 was from rates and £171,428 from markets.

Here is a list of the various authorities in London and the money they received during the year:

County Council	£11,392,375

MUSIC AND THE STAGE.

The "biggest thing" in the line of theatricals this week in Los Angeles is George Auger in "Jack the Giant Killer" at the Orpheum, while the smallest thing (though by no means the least important) is Ernest Rommel, who plays Jack. Mr. Auger appears to be ten feet tall, but he's the greatest giant imaginable, with a voice that he tries in vain to make ferocious. "Cute" is the exact word for little Sylvia Hearn, who is Princess Pansy, Jack's sweetheart. The little play is pleasantly humorous, makes a brave attempt at the heroic, and is warranted to please children of all ages.

"The Black City Four," another new number on the program, are excellent singers and lively fun-makers. The audience liked them so well yesterday that they experienced some difficulty in getting off the stage at all. Bert Kalmar and Jessie Brown do some work in singing and dancing that is truly artistic, especially in the dance. They are light of foot, well trained, and have both grace and distinction. "The Jack Arlo Duo" are agile gymnasts in the make-up of a Pierrot. They may not be the best, but they are very impressive, and their contortions on the bar are done with pleasurable facility.

Take it all in all, the bill of the Orpheum for the next six days is unusually good. The headliners are all of the sort that may be seen twice with enjoyment. There are Krags Trio, European novelty gymnasts; Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Connally in their sentimental one-act play, "Sweetheart"; "Top of the World Dancers" in "Kris Kringle's Dream"; George McKay and John Cantwell in their satirical skit, "On the Great White Way." The motion picture brings us to Peru, where we take a hundred-mile trip on the railway from Arctic mountains to tropic levels.

The Belasco theater company, augmented by the addition of Beulah Pennington and Nellie Montgomery, began an interesting presentation of George M. Cohan's "Fifty Miles from Boston" last night. This is the first time the piece is staged.

Bob Fitzsimmons is still a juvenile. He told a Pantheist audience yesterday that after his pugilistic retirement he remembered the careers of Joseph Jefferson, Adelina Patti and Sarah Bernhardt, and thereupon turned to the show business. He makes a distinction between the show business and acting. "I am in the first, but I have been told I am not the latter," he says.

Not every little exponent in the limelight is willing to confess so freely. But after all, it is a very pleasing skill that he offers, containing some light comedy and some terrific bag-punching. Mrs. Fitzsimmons, a stunning little woman with a soprano voice of real brilliance, and sings with a great deal of taste and expression. Her "Comin' Through the Rye," unaccompanied, is a gem. Mr. Fitzsimmons' vocal gifts, however, resemble those of a crow.

Back brothers have a comedy acrobatic sketch with facts that are fairly startling. The breaking of wires, in their apparatus, abruptly ended their turn yesterday, but they had already shown more new back-breakers than the average audience sees in a month. Jessie Edwards, a very pretty and pleasing woman, puts eight Pomeranian dogs through a rattling performance.

Claude Golden, card manipulator, who seems really new turns in tricks with the pasteboards. Myrtle Victorine, a dancer, works long and fervently in half a dozen costumes.

Jack Hawkins and his company offer an extremely poor sketch totally out of the class of the rest of the program.

"Keeping An Appointment," though not the headline feature of the Los Angeles theater program, is really the novelty of the bill. Though it is a astonishing thing to find any new material in sketches nowadays, this one has it. Violet Allen and Harry Stanley, deprived of attire suitable for an evening party, proceed to find some in the furnishings of a room. The act is provocative of considerable amusement.

Dorothy and Russell, "Musical Rail-roads," run Allen and Stanley a close race for honors. The breaking of a string of extracting melody out of everything apparently unmelodic is delightful.

Emmet DeVoy and Hermoline Shone have a sketch of the "day after the night before" species entitled, "The Nightly Mr. Billings." Mr. DeVoy has a laugh-making way with him, and Miss Shone is beautiful, but the skit, though possessed of some humorous moments, is too long.

Mary Ann Brown—the name suggests a tiny woman—is a large person with a large though somewhat faded voice. She does many imitations, which are wisely labeled.

Black and McKone have a variety of burlesque acrobatics, of good entertainment. Milton and Delmar, in "Uncle W's Visit," are little more than tire-men.

Almost a Deserted Village

I visited Dingis Bay, Ireland, yesterday to view departed greatness, says a correspondent of the London Star.

Dinah was a famous poet more than a generation ago. At Emulagh, a small village nearby, I asked a woman of advanced years the population.

"Four," she replied.

"How's that?" I said. "I saw a dozen children playing by the roadside."

"I meant four voters, or heads of families," she replied. "There were six, but two families went to America, and the houses are vacant."

"Well, but how many persons are here," I queried.

She answered: "There's McCarthy and the old woman and eleven children. Then there's Mrs. O'Brien and her man and nine children, and the Murphys with their thirteen children, and the Gilhoolleys are ten, besides the father and mother and the pig."

Fifty-one altogether!

Just then the fat porter snorted around my legs, and pointing proudly at him, my interlocutor exclaimed: "Faith and that's the gentleman that pays the Gilhoolleys' rent!"

RUESS WINS ON POPE.

Shettler Loses Wager Against Fast Hartford Car—Hanshue Goes Out in Second Lap.

William E. Rueess had plenty of money last night. He won the $5000 wager with Leon T. Shettler that the Pope-Hartford, driven by Bert Ding-dy, in the Vanderbilt Cup Race, would beat the Apperson driven by Harris Hanshue. Rueess pocketed $1000 yesterday when Phil Lyon had held since the wager was made.

Rueess made $1000 in all on the fortune of Dingdy who finished with the Pope-Hartford.

The car which Dingdy drove is a 1911 Pope-Hartford car, such as is to be used in the Santa Monica road race. The car is to be shipped here immediately after the Fairmont Park event in which Dingdy is entered.

Stues believes that Bert will be among the first place men in the Quaker City Motor Club race on Saturday.

There is no better sport than Shettler. The moment he learned how Dingdy had finished he congratulated Rueess on his victory. Hanshue had a slight accident in the second lap of the race and his fast Apperson car was out of commission. He is in great racing shape, however, and his car is undamaged and ready to race at Fairmont.

Leschetitzky

The World's Greatest Teacher of the Piano, Says—

That in two more centuries the technically brilliant pianist will be an extinct variety, and that only him will be tolerated who has the power to produce a beautiful, rich, full, vibrant tone on the piano. And so Leschetitzky teaches tone production above all else.

Apply this point to the player-piano that you buy; see that it has TONE; that it is not merely a machine for the "execution" of music.

And remember, always, that the patents held by the Apollo manufacturers give them alone the right to make a player-piano which creates tone, like the human hand, by down strokes on the fronts of the keys.

As a result of slight family differences, L. L. Sidwell of Rivers is suffering while awaiting trial on a charge of having committed battery on his wife. His father-in-law, John Broadbent, and Max Pickett have had similar charges preferred against them.

The complaint against Sidwell was issued several days ago, when his wife made a sworn statement that he had dragged her out of bed by the hair. Her father is alleged to have become incensed when he heard of the offense. Accompanied by Pickett, he drove to the Sidwell home. His son-in-law, who was sleeping in a rear door, Broadbent covered him with a pistol while Pickett struck him a blow which knocked him down. The angry parent is said to have threatened to work over his son-in-law's face with his boot heels.

Last Call

The landlord gives us one week more to get out; and even now the carpenters are at work altering the big store for new tenants.

Twenty-one pianos sold on one day last week, 18 on another; those figures tell the story of furious piano buying during the next-to-last week of this bankrupt sale. And between Monday morning until Saturday night at 10 o'clock, just 6 days, we must move out every instrument now on hand.

Every piano which could possibly be sent out has gone. Many people who paid cash for their pianos and asked us to hold them for a month have inconvenienced themselves and have phoned us to send the instruments along ahead of time. We appreciate this. Others who had merely paid deposits have been quick to make arrangements and get their pianos. And now we stand here, with our floors cleared for action, ready to make the most stupendous price-cutting effort yet, in order to have an absolutely clear slate by Saturday at closing time.

Warning to Those Who Have Purchased Pianos. This is positively the last week that we can store your piano for you. All instruments which have not been ordered sent to their owners by Saturday at noon will be sent to the storage warehouse and held there for further instructions.

Prices Now Are Lower Than Ever. Think of getting a genuine mahogany Weber upright, worth $500, for only $217.

Imagine a brand new Wesley & Co. Cabinet Upright, worth $250, for $197. For $117 we now reduced..... $117

Every $400 and $450 Piano in the house now reduced..... $168

For $28 Down and $12 a month you may secure a superb $250 upright, reduced to only $245. A prize winner at the A. T. F. Exposition.

PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

According to a complaint filed in the Superior Court yesterday, Mary L. Hall married Samuel N. Hall, a Santa Monica musician, two weeks before her husband had been declared a divorcee from her. Hall said that his marriage was annulled. Ramon Manuel Wiley, who pleaded guilty to burglary, was given a three-year term in San Quentin by Judge Davis. In spite of the fact that it is alleged that President Diaz was his godfather and that the prisoner is a graduate of Princeton.

TAXICAB MEN VOICE PROTEST. SAY THE ORDINANCE WILL PUT THEM OUT OF BUSINESS.

Public Utilities Commission and Railroad Representatives Discuss Grade Crossings—Time Granted for Report on Cross-town Franchises.

The taxicab men appeared in force before the Legislative Committee of the City Council yesterday and presented their objections to the passage of the proposed ordinance, fixing rates. The ordinance fixes the scale at 10 cents for the first half-mile, 10 cents for each quarter-mile thereafter, and 10 cents for each three minutes' wait. There are at present two rates in force among different companies, some charging 10 cents per mile, with a minimum charge of 31 cents, and others charging 15 cents per hour, or at the same rate for fractions of an hour, with a minimum charge of 51 cents. After a long discussion, the hearing was adjourned until next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when the taxicab men will endeavor to get together and present a substitute that will be acceptable to all. The men who charge by the hour object to the enforcement of the meter system, but there is little likelihood of the committee receding from that portion of the proposed ordinance.

CONFERENCE WITH RAILROADS.

A conference was held yesterday afternoon between the Public Utilities Commission and representatives of the railroads, in an effort to get under way a consideration of the problem of reducing danger at railway crossings. It was determined after a short conference to first take up the question of the separation of the grades at all crossings along the Los Angeles River. Another meeting will be held on October 13, when data will be presented upon the subject, and enable the commission to arrive at some idea of the cost of such improvement. A railroad man present at the conference, said that to carry out that idea would cost millions of dollars.

UTILITIES COMMISSION. ASK TIME ON FRANCHISES.

At the adjourned meeting of the City Council, held yesterday morning, the Utilities Commission was given until November 15 to report on the application of the Los Angeles Railway for a franchise on San Pedro street, from Seventh to Aliso; a request to the same effect was granted in the matter of the proposed cross-town line. The commission stated in its request for more time, that there are considerations of much importance to the city that cannot be disposed of without a thorough investigation of all sides of the question.

CITY HALL BRIEFS. PENSIONERS CALLED IN.

At a meeting of the Fire and Police Pension Board yesterday, all police pensioners, who are physically able for duty, were ordered to report at once to Chief of Police Galloway. A. J. Copp, Jr., yesterday addressed a letter to the Board of Public Works, in which he gave notice that no portion of the City Building, adjoining the City Hall, property on the north, encroaches upon the latter, and that any effort to make use of the walls of the City Building will be resisted in the courts. The communication will be presented at the meeting of the City Council today.

IN THE INFERIOR COURTS.

Hearing Fixed For Union-Laborer Trio Charged With Murderous Assault. The examination of C. F. Stevens, Claud Morris and C. F. Curry, charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to murder, was set for tomorrow by Judge Chambers in Police Court late yesterday afternoon. Grow made an attempt to obtain release from the city jail on a writ of habeas corpus, but when the procedure proved futile he was taken back to the city jail and later taken to the Police Court.

GROWN AS THREE OF THE FEW MEN WHO ATTACKED HOFFMAN.

Stevens and Morris were arrested a few days later when surprised near the home of Louis Ogram, holding engineer at the Hall of Records, whom it was said they had plotted to waylay and maim because he was not in sympathy with the outrages committed by the union laborites.

EAGER TO RELEASE.

Michael Eagen, who was arrested as a suspect in West Lake Park after the bomb was found at Gen. Harrison Gray Otis' house, was released from the city jail yesterday afternoon, on lack of evidence. Eagen is said to be an anarchist known in many parts of the United States. At the time of his arrest he was found destroying letters by the police and an attempt made to piece them together. They failed, however, to find incriminating evidence.

AT THE COURTHOUSE. SAYS "GRASS" WASN'T GREEN.

HUBBY ALLEGES SHE WAS NO PASTURE WIDOW.

Man Sues for Annulment of Marriage to Santa Monica Young Woman and Charges That at the Time of the Wedding She Was the Wife of Another.

The wife of an alleged "grass widow," and the wife of a Santa Monica woman who married her second husband two weeks before the action for divorce brought by the first husband had been denied by Judge Hutton, are features set forth in an annulment petition, filed in the Superior Court yesterday by Samuel N. Hall, a well-known musician, who is in charge of the Santa Monica auditorium orchestra.

EXECUTRIX CITED. FOLLY ESTATE CLAIM.

In the probate department of the Superior Court yesterday the petition for a citation to have Louisa M. Foy, executrix of the estate of Samuel C. Foy, make an accounting of the estate, went over until next Monday for hearing.

RODRIGUEZ PLEADS. ASKS FOR PROBATION.

Judge Willis opened his court in Department Eleven yesterday, fresh from his six weeks' trip through the East. Jose Rodriguez, charged with burglary, withdrew his plea of not guilty and entered a plea of guilty in the first degree. An application for probation was made and the case was continued until next Monday.

WILEY SENTENCED. GETS THREE YEARS.

Ramon Manuel Wiley, who is alleged to have the honor of having had President Porfirio Diaz, President of Mexico, officiate at his christening, but who forgetting his high birth, put in the most of his time after striking Los Angeles in going through a number of houses on burglary bent, was given a stretch of three years in San Quentin, by Judge Davis, yesterday.

COURTS UNDER PRESSURE.

The programme set for the fall opening of the Superior Court went somewhat awry, yesterday and instead of Department Nine and Twelve being without presiding judges, as expected, both Judges Bordwell and Davis were on hand, and with the assistance of Judge Conley of Madera, who assisted in place of Judge Hutton, who has not yet returned from his vacation trip to Pueblo, were in the way of getting things ready for trial. In Judge Conroy's department, there was a large list of divorce actions, and the calendar of every judge was full to the point of overflowing.

In the absence of Judge Rivers, who has gone away for two weeks on his annual quail hunt, Judge Moss presided in Department Two yesterday, but it is the understanding that during the absence of Judge Rivers all of the judges will take a hand in clearing up the probate business.

JURORS CHOSEN. LIST ANNOUNCED YESTERDAY.

Seventy-six citizens, summoned for duty in Judge Willis's court, responded yesterday, but after the usual run of excuses had been disposed of, there were but twenty-four who stood the test, and reported for service in the afternoon. The list follows: Charles Daniels, G. T. Howland, John E. Loomis, J. E. Murphy, R. F. Nance, Chester R. Smead, William Waddington and Fred W. Fisher, Los Angeles; John Bartlett, Downey; E. Y. Frazier, Huntington Park; James Hoffman, Glendale; A. P. Kerckhoff, Covina; G. H. Prince, Lankershim; D. N. Towne, Gardena; G. F. Wegner, Alhambra.

HEIRS WILLING. MISS CHARNOCK GETS SHARE.

Arrangements have been about completed by which Miss Laura Charnock, foster daughter of the late Henry Charnock, and who was plaintiff in an action recently decided by Judge Rivers, involving her right to inherit as an adopted daughter of her foster parent, and against her prayer, will be looked after by the heirs of John Charnock. They think that, in view of the fact that Charnock cared for her in his lifetime and showed great interest in her, it would be something to assist Miss Charnock. The heirs concerned are Lady Dutton Green of Adelaide, Australia; George A. Charnock, Edward F. Charnock and Mrs. Ruth of Hollywood. An agreement has been signed by which each of the four heirs of John Charnock contribute a fund of $5000, the income of which is to be held in trust for Miss Laura Charnock during her lifetime. At her death the money returns to the estate of the heirs who contributed it.

ACTION ON CONTRACT. THE SAN JOAQUIN LIGHT AND POWER COMPANY.

The San Joaquin Light and Power Company was made defendant in action brought by J. G. Guffris, yesterday, to recover $22.50, alleged to be due on a contract made by the parties January 31, 1909. By the terms of the contract, it is alleged, the defendants were to purchase the cement that was needed in the construction work of the San will of the testator was admitted to probate in May, 1901, and that the executrix has had charge of the property ever since.

The inventory made at that time disclosed the fact that the property was worth $406,851.94. The petitioner is Edna Foy Neher, an heir and daughter of the executrix, who claims that she is entitled to one-twelfth of the Foy estate, being a daughter of the testator. It is further alleged in the petition that not only has nine years passed since the appointment of an executor, but that Lucinda M. Foy, although repeatedly asked to render an accounting, has so far failed to do so.

THROWS BEER BOTTLE. Woman in Automobile Hurt and Run-Down in Buggy Are Quickly Captured.

Ernest R. Werdin, a recent candidate for the nomination for Sheriff, and former Sheriff White collaborated Sunday night in making the arrest of two ruffians who threw a beer bottle, partly filled, into the automobile. The two men and their wives motored into the country. They were a short distance this side of Rivera, returning to this city, when they turned to pass a buggy occupied by two men. One of the latter threw the bottle at the machine. It struck Mrs. White on the arm, inflicting a painful bruise.

Werdin, who was at the wheel, turned around quickly as possible. As they reached the rig the autoists jumped out and told the men they were under arrest.

"You can't arrest me; I'm a deputy sheriff," declared one of them, who later gave his name as W. F. Pope. In a moment he was sprawling on the ground, having been assisted to alight by Werdin. The other man, who said he was Fred McLean, offered no resistance.

They were placed in the automobile and brought to the County Jail. A complaint charging them with battery was issued yesterday by Deputy District Attorney Hammon.

The more value a factory puts into its product, the larger its business becomes. The larger its business becomes, the greater is its power for overcoming trade difficulties. The "Queen Quality" shoe factories are the LARGEST IN THE WORLD; their OUT PUT (over 20,000 pairs daily,) the GREATEST. Two undeniable proofs of the superiority of "Queen Quality" over any other shoes in the world at the price.

The accompanying cut pictures a 1910 Fall Model that for "snap" and "class" cannot be equalled at any price. Made in patent and gun metal with kid or cloth tops. Has short vamp and round toe with perforated winged tip specified by Dame Fashion.

ILLINOIS SOLON WHO FACES CHARGE IS RELIEVED.

FEARS CROSS - EXAMINATION WILL JEOPARDIZE HIM.

BROWNE WILL BE CALLED BY COMMITTEE TODAY.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)
CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—State Senator Broderick, accused by Senator D. W. Holstiel, of luring, of paying him $2500 which he, Holstiel, supposed was for his vote for Lorimer, did not testify before the Lorimer Investigation Committee because his counsel, Thomas Dawson, today asked that his examination be confined to the main question of his client's having promised or paid a bribe to Holstiel, or any other person, and that he be not questioned specifically concerning the time and place of the alleged payment of the money to Holstiel.

Attorney Dawson declared that to allow Broderick, who is under indictment in Sangamon county for bribing Holstiel, to be cross-examined on the attendant circumstances in the alleged payment of the bribe money to Holstiel, would be prejudicial to Broderick's case.

A number of impeaching witnesses were called by the defense to disprove statements made by Representative White.

It is expected that Democratic Leader Lee O'Neil Browne, will appear tomorrow.

William L. Russell, vice-president of the International Association of Machinists, and for years a labor lobbyist at Springfield, testified he had heard nothing more substantial than rumors that there was bribery in the Legislature at the time Senator Lorimer was elected, and that he had never known of any graft at Springfield in the seven years he had attended the sessions of the Legislature.

POLYTECHNIC ATHLETICS.

Students Organize Football Team Despite Faculty And Compromise Is Reached.

The first step toward removing the ban from interscholastic athletics at Polytechnic High School was taken by the students when a committee of three called upon Principal W. A. Dunn in an endeavor to have the faculty recognize a Rugby football team which was organized recently.

The committee was composed of "Monk" Pierce, who represented the Rugby faction; William Haney, representing the school at large; and Robert Thorburn, as president of the most important student body organization, the board of control.

Principal Dunn announced that he had talked the matter over with Superintendent J. H. Francis and that they had decided to allow the athletic situation to remain as at present for another year. The committee, however, gained some concessions which will allow the students to maintain an outside organization which, though strictly speaking, cannot officially represent the High School, will represent the students as an organization.

"Monk" Pierce, who has played four years at school, is barred from further contests. He has been selected as coach. Most of the men of the last team are still at school, so that a good fifteen may be expected. As the situation remains, the students are determined to have a Rugby team whether sanctioned by the faculty or not.

According to Robert Thorburn, the pupils are to hold a mass meeting tomorrow to discuss ways and means to have the faculty remove the ban. It is also probable that petitions will be circulated in the near future for the same purpose. The main object of the students in forming a Rugby team is so that they can meet their greatest rival, the Los Angeles High School.

The team played the Manual Arts High School fifteen yesterday at Manual Arts field and defeated them by the score of 16 to 0.

He scored all three runs for Cincinnati, but Cincinnati won, 5 to 3. Score: Chicago, hits, 3; runs, 7; errors, 1. Cincinnati, hits, 5; runs, 11; errors, 0.

TRAGEDY IS DOUBLED.

PARIS, Oct. 3.—As a tragic sequel to the death of Edmund Poillot, the French aviator, his fiancée, who had shown almost uncontrollable grief, went to his grave today and fired a bullet into her heart. Poillot was killed September 25 while making a flight with a passenger. While at a height of ninety feet, wing collapsed and the machine fell backward. Poillot's spine was broken.

Latest Suit Models $25, $30, $35, $40 and $50

How GOOD, not how cheap, is the strongest argument for these suits. In every stitch they show the work of the artist-tailor. The materials too, are above the average, the colors those most favored by fashion.

Rough surfaced mannish mixtures predominate, though for those who prefer the smoother goods there is a plenty. Browns, blues and grays are the favorite tones. So complete and varied a collection of tailored suits will not be seen later in the season nor will such sterling values be buyable.

HEROIC SAVES WOMAN FROM FLAMES.

YOUNG GILL RISKS HIS LIFE IN MOMENT OF PERIL.

Falls Two Stories Down Elevator Shaft Through Flames and Finds Mrs. Ulrich Pinned Under Beam, Frees Her, and Is Himself Caught. Last Man Out.

One of the most thrilling stories of escape from the ruins of The Times building was modestly told yesterday by Ralph T. Gill of No. 409 North Soto street, who is a compositor for The Times, and for six years worked in the building department.

Gill, who is a young man, does not seem to realize that he is a hero, or that he did anything unusual in jeopardizing his own life to save a helpless woman, but he is. Nothing can be more graphic than the story of Gill as he told it on the piazza of his home yesterday. His hands and arms muffled in bandages, his face a mass of raw flesh, and his hair cooked.

"I was working at the dump near the make-up table when the explosion came," he said. "It was terrible. The great machines were tumbled into boules. Jordan was right near me and called to me to make for the windows, but already a sheet of flame cut us off from the street. I ran toward the front, but a wall of fire was roaring in front of me. I saw a man who was left then turned toward the elevator shaft. By this time the smoke was so thick it was hard to breathe. I could not see the rope, and jumped for it blindly and missed, falling two stories to the basement."

"For a moment it seemed like heaven to breathe the air again, for the bottom of the shaft was still free of smoke. But there was a number of bodies lying at the bottom—men who had fallen—and I saw Mrs. Ulrich doubled up and pinned down by a rafter or beam. I turned back and pulled away the beam and just then a heavy grating fell down the shaft and pinned me into a corner. I don't know how Mrs. Ulrich got out after that, for the flames came down and burned my ear and leg arm."

"I beat with my fists on the grating and smashed a hole through which I crawled and got into the jobroom. There I met Mr. Crabill, who cried out: 'You can't get out that way. Ralph.' Say, I'll never forget the face of Crabill. It was terrible. His eyes were staring, his lips set, and he was pale as death and bloody. Then I lost him in the smoke and fell over a roll of paper. I thought it was all over. But I struggled up and met one of the stereotypers. We clasped hands and fought our way through the flames to the main room. It was lucky I had worked there so many years and knew the way. Together we groped to the main chute and crawled up this to the street where we found the firemen squirting water on the ruins. I think we were the last men to leave the building alive."

"I started to the Receiving Hospital, but was so afraid my mother would hear of the accident before she knew that I was safe that I got an auto and came home. Dr. Newkirk, who lives near here, bandaged me up and I'll soon be all right. But I can't help thinking of the boys who stood near me when the explosion came—Jordan, Tunstall, Howard and Fred Llewellyn. Not one of them got away."

CUNEIFORM HISTORY. BOOK OF JOB HAS COMPANION

REVELATIONS OF TABLETS FROM BABYLONIA

Evidence Discovered of Lost Works by Ancient Authors, one of Which Appears to Confirm the Experience of the Patriarch Job. One Tablet Missing.

An interesting fact familiar to scholars acquainted with the wonderful achievements in the deciphering of the cuneiform writing of ancient Babylonia and Assyria is that extracts from lost works of the old authors and scribes are sometimes recovered by means of commentaries upon them in the cuneiform, says a correspondent of the London Standard. In order to explain the ancient texts it generally happens that the commentators quote at least a line, or sentence, as a foundation for each exposition. Short sentences are also cited in the numerous dictionaries and lexicons, and especially in the vocabularies which give the Sumerian-Akkadian equivalents for old Sumerian Babylonian words. Among several such lost works whose existence was confirmed by the finding of many fragments of a commentary upon it in the remains of the famous library of Assurbanipal, as well as by portions of several tablets which once contained the story itself, was one of which sufficient of the text could be restored to show that its subject bore a very close apparent similarity to the Hebrew story of the patriarch Job.

The broken tablets, which still present portions of the narrative itself, appear to contain four different copies, all, to some extent, of the same text. Three of them, it is believed, belonged to the Temple of Merodach at Babylon, and one to the shrine of Shamesh, the Sun god, at Sippara. The reason for the existence of numerous editions of these old Mesopotamian legends and parables was, it is now thought, that they were recited at certain festivals in the temples, and probably also acted therein by the priests, much in the style of the Oberammergau Play at the present day. For instance, the favorite myth, or story, of the fight between Merodach, the god of light, with Tiamat, the goddess of chaos and darkness, with which is interwoven the Babylonian version of the "Story of Creation," appears to have been dramatized as a ritual for the New Year's temple festival. To enable the participants in the performance to understand their parts thoroughly, a commentary was necessary, and it is probable that the one we have upon this story—which is a close parallel to the Book of Job—is a treatise prepared for the use of novices to the priesthood in one of the temples at Babylon, because all the parts known of it have emanated from the ruins of that city, though at least two pieces of the original work have been found at Sippara.

Until recently what was known about this lost book showed that it was contained in four tablets of about 130 lines each, and so extended to nearly 500 lines. Also that the title of the story, known by the catch-phrase attached to each tablet—with all cuneiform works—was: "I will praise the Lord of Wisdom." The cuneiform catalogue of the contents of the great palace library at Babylon enumerates this work as being upon its shelves, but much of it was missing. In addition to the primary title the third tablet (and perhaps the fourth also) had a subsidiary one consisting of the first few words, which were: "The pressure of his hand I can no longer endure." The third tablet is the one in which the sufferer's agony and diseases are assigned, and finally removed by the merciful hand of the according to the story of the first two tablets.

An stated, scholars (and there are now many such) who can correctly interpret these cuneiform texts were confident that this four-tablet story presented parallels to that of the "Ebed Jehovah"—or servant of the Lord—of Scripture, and by means of the several pieces of the four copies of the numerous lines preserved in the fragments of the tablets, and the restoration upon its contents, sufficient of the document was consecutively edited to substantiate their view. The chief hiatus, however, was that in the third tablet, which records the gradual restoration of health and strength of the victim, and which corresponded in the sequence of the removal from him of one malady after another, to the order of the story in the Bible. Happily for those interested in such a subject, and for science, a copy of this lost third tablet, unfortunately broken at the ends and in some of the preserved parts, somewhat illegible, has been discovered, and presents to us about 60 lines of more or less imperfect text.

This invaluable relic has been found to have been lying for some years undetected among thousands of cuneiform tablets in the museum at Constantinople, and was deposited there with a collection of such records obtained by Pers Schell from excavations he carried out at the site of ancient Sippara. It has first been edited by Mr. R. Campbell Thompson, M.A., and fully corroborates the view that in this now partially complete work we have a composition certainly extremely similar to that of the story of Job. Not only does the new tablet clear up many points that were previously obscure, as well as adding many new sentences to the narrative, but it will no doubt lead to the identification of other copies of its text and to further fragments of commentators' remarks upon it being noticed in various museums. The hero of the story, if he may be so called, was a king named Tabil-ut-Bel. And it is interesting to note that there was such a person known to history, for his name appears in a very ancient chronological list of early Babylonian sovereigns.

The first tablet appears to have commenced with a hymn of praise to the god Bel, a sort of thanksgiving for release from suffering. The second recorded in style the tragic style the diseases and sufferings of the royal endurer of the calamities. Wherever he turned for help he found only more pain and suffering. His friends forsook him, probably because of the loathsome nature of some of his maladies. He appealed to his god and goddess without success, and then had recourse to various diviners and augurs and necromancers, who were quite recognized orders among the hierarchy of Babylonian temples, but with the same negative result. The narrative then, in words supposed to be uttered by Tabil-ut-Bel, touches upon his having fulfilled all the obligations of a pious Babylonian towards his gods. All sacrifices he had performed, all sacred feasts attended, prayer and worship had been his constant performance, and he had instructed his people in all religious observances. He seems to have searched for an adequate cause for his punishment, and, apparently, to have found it to have been his teaching the people to worship himself. "The glorification of the king I made like unto a god's." Then he proceeds to point out that this may have been completely, by comparing the inferiority of mankind to the power of a god. Following upon this is the lugubrious catalogue of his ailments. Thus fever and dysentery "bent his high stature like a poplar," blindness, deafness, and every manner of disease attacked him.

At the opening of the third tablet his restoration toward sound health commences; and the passing away of each malady is set forth as was their imposition. The god Bel appears (once he was mollified) to have set to work with a will, for the roots of the disease he tore up like a plant. His eyes, which he had stopped up as with a veil of night, he enlightened their vision; his ears, which had been shut like a deaf man's, he took away their deafness; and so forth through the whole category until "the neck that had been bent downwards he raised erect like a cedar." The restoration account appears to have terminated on the third tablet, the fourth one being occupied with the moral of the narrative, but of this concluding part of the story scholars have at present very little to say.

It is not intended to suggest that the book of Job is derived from the Babylonian work, "I will adore the Lord of Wisdom," of which a short summary has been given. The conception of an individual having offended the Deity, and thereby bringing down himself as judgment calamities of all kinds, may have occurred to various races, and would naturally be followed by the history of the removal of the sufferings when true penitence was shown or the proper measures taken. But there may be some slight connection between the Mesopotamian and Hebrew stories. It is interesting to note that the Babylonian account was certainly not originated as a support for priestcraft, as were so many old Egyptian treatises, because the priests and sorcerers and diviners were all admittedly impotent to afford even an assuagement of the royal misery. The confession and the very practical abolition by restoration to health were arranged solely between Tabil-ut-Bel and his god. Because this almost unique conception of pagan thought appears in this archaic story, it is sincerely to be hoped that further portions of the text will be recovered, and so a complete version of the work be restored to us.

TALK RAILROAD MATTERS.

Prominent Traffic Men Discuss Important Things at Luncheon of Association.

Prominent eastern railway men were guests at the luncheon of the Los Angeles Traffic Association, which was held at the Angelus Hotel yesterday. Among the speakers were George W. Higgins, general agent of the New York Central, New York; H. A. Cross, general agent of the Chicago and Northwestern at Chicago; A. T.

Brainard, Frank H. Lahn, George M. Sargent, and C. A. Stokes. F. A. Wann, general traffic manager of the Salt Lake, gave an interesting talk on a comparison of freight rates between St. Louis and Atlantic seaboard points. Fifty members of the association were present at the luncheon.

The Pollard Opera Company, at the Auditorium, began a week's engagement last night. The work presented is a revival of "The Mikado."

VERMONT SQUARE

Our September sales, with the exception of February, were larger than for any previous month this year.

Why?

The reason for this is that at the prevailing prices acreage in the "New Southwest," comparatively close in, including the land and the necessary improvements under the new city specifications, will cost the subdivider an average of $1261.00 per lot. To this must be added the selling expenses and a reasonable profit to the subdivider to make the selling price.

This is from 35 to 50 per cent more than the average price of lots in Vermont Square.

NEW PLANS
UNDER WAY.OCTOBER STARTING POINT OF
MANY PROJECTS.LOCAL ARCHITECTS GET OUT-
OF-FORM CONTRACTS.BUILDING PAPER REPORTS
VARIOUS ENTERPRISES.

While there can scarcely be said to be a "fall season" in building or anything else that pertains to the Southland, October 1 may perhaps be taken as the starting point for architectural and structural activities on a considerably greater scale than has characterized the past three months.

Everywhere throughout the city, plans are under way by local architects for a vast variety of structures planned for sites in and out of Los Angeles. Notable among these, the Southwest Builder and Contractor mentions the following:

Architects Elson & Son have commenced the preparation of plans for a three-story frame apartment house, of Spanish Renaissance style, to be erected on West Adams street, opposite St. James Park, for Harrison Heinrich.

It will be 354 feet long, varying in width from 50 to 75 feet, and will contain 125 rooms, divided into two, three and four-room suites, with private bath and buffet kitchen. Complete details are not yet obtainable, but the exterior will be cement plastered over metal lath, with staff decorative work, composition roof, plate glass front, light, oak and pine floor mahogany, oak and ash grain fine for trim, wall beds, steam heat, automatic electric elevator, good plumbing fixtures, telephone connections to each apartment, concrete porches and basement and concrete foundation. A dining-room, reception hall, reading and lounging room, parlor and a large bathroom will also be provided.

B. J. Borgmeyer has drawn plans for a one-story brick building 62x130 feet, for J. Rosen, to be erected at Twelfth and Central avenues. The building will be used for a shop.

Architect C. C. Rittenhouse is preparing plans for a two-story brick building, to be erected on the southeast corner of East Seventh and Main streets, for the Dwight-McKinley Company, acting for an Arizona investor. The building will contain six stores on the first floor and 22 guest rooms and three bathrooms on the second floor. The cost will be about $15,000.

Arthur S. Heinemann submitted the only set of plans in conformity with the advertisement for a complete set of drawings and specifications for a city hall to be erected in South Pasadena. The cost of the building will not exceed $10,000, according to the stipulation made by council. The plans were referred to the building commission.

Joe R. Ford has had plans drawn for a four-story brick addition in the rear of the present building at 32 Maple avenue. It will contain 30 rooms.

THEATRE FOR MAIN.
Fireproof Playhouse to Be Erected Between Third and Fourth on Large Site.

Architects Edman & Barnett are preparing plans for a reinforced concrete building to be erected at No. 214-216 South Main street for A. Beauchamp. A theater will occupy the rear 214x130 feet of the lot, which has a total depth of 215 feet.

The walls will be of concrete, the floor of cement. The seating capacity will be 1000 on the main floor. No balcony will be put in at this time, but the building will be planned to permit the construction of one.

The two-story brick building, now on the site will be demolished during January next, and in its stead a two-story reinforced concrete store and office building will be erected. Between the front store building and theater auditorium on either side of the main entrance leading from the street space will be provided parking place, display room and waiting room. The auditorium and lobby will be elaborately decorated. The general construction, which will shortly begin, will be carried on under the owner's supervision. The improvements will cost approximately $100,000.

ENGLISH INN PLANNED.
Tourist Hotel of Large Size Projected for Picturesque Site in Monrovia.

Sketches have been prepared by Architects Hager & Elger for a large tourist hotel to be erected at Monrovia. The project is said to be backed by the Monrovia Chamber of Commerce. A sketch of the hotel, which is a two-story building, is available. The sketches prepared show an H-shaped building about 400 feet wide and 200 feet deep, with a court 200 feet wide in the front. The building is designed in the early English timbered and plastered style, and is two stories in height.

HOTEL UNDER WAY.
Work has been started on the foundation for the brick hotel to be erected at Second and Canal streets, Wilmington, by the Wilmington Dock Company. Plans for this structure were prepared some time ago by W. Horace Austin, of Long Beach, but work has been held up pending changes in the street grade. The building will be 70x115 feet, with stores on the first floor, and 22 apartments on the second. Minor changes have been made in the original plans, and new specifications are being drawn. The estimated cost is $20,000.

PLAN SANITORIUM.
Morgan J. Reeve is preparing plans for a frame hotel and sanitarium and a pavilion and bathhouse to be erected at White Sulphur Springs, a mile south of Los Nietos on the Whittier electric road. The bathhouse will be 20x150 feet and will contain a public plunge 25x75 feet and a private plunge 25x25 feet. A company known as the Santa Fe Springs company has been incorporated with a capital stock of $100,000 to take over the White Sulphur Springs and erect the new buildings.

$2500 Invested in West Riverside Estate Will Grow to $15,000

There Is Money
In Oranges

"Orange Culture in California is already the most productive branch of Horticultural Industry in any state in the Country."

"The net returns to the average grower from a grove in full maturity should be from $100 to $500 per acre per annum, according to variety of fruit, locality, market conditions and care given."

"Good managers often get much larger returns."

"One firm of independent packers informs the Chamber of Commerce that they paid $14,000 on the trees for the crop of a 15-acre grove, and $5000 on the trees for the crop of a 5-acre grove."

"By ten years a grove should be in full bearing."

NOTE: The foregoing statements were taken from a pamphlet on the Orange Industry in Southern California, issued in 1909 by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. The quotations are word for word.

IN EIGHT YEARS

The Offer

To start and assist development, the West Riverside Estate (Inc.) offers

500 Acres Full Bearing
Orange Orchard

Having ample cheap water, located on the famous West Riverside Estate

In 5, 10 and 20 Acre Tracts
for $1250 per Acre

One-fifth cash at date of purchase. Balance, which you should make from the crops, in eight equal annual installments. Interest on deferred payments at 6 per cent, payable annually. Deed with certificate of title at date of purchase.

Orchards Cared For

Arrangements can be made with the company to care for the orchards till such time as is convenient for the purchaser to personally undertake the management of his own property.

Water

The most essential element of success in orange culture is water.

The water right on the West Riverside Estate consists of one miner's inch to each five acres of Meeks & Daley water, costing only $2.20 per acre per annum.

This is the best and cheapest water right in Southern California and is valued in Riverside at $3000 per inch.

Deed at First Payment

As a final safeguard it has been decided to issue a deed direct to purchaser at date of first payment.

Title is Perfect

And will be so guaranteed by an unlimited Certificate of Title issued by the Riverside Title & Abstract Company.

This Certificate will be given with deed at date of first payment

How to Meet the Annual Payments

To meet these annual payments you will have crops which, according to the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce figures, "Should be from $100 to $500 per acre net to the average grower."

Safety

The safety and desirability of an investment depend not on a showing for one or two years, but on its average record covering a period of years.

A 30-Year Record

The orange industry has a thirty-year record in Southern California and the average returns for that length of time as shown by available and reliable statistics prove that orange culture in Southern California is the most productive branch of Horticultural Industry in any state in the country.

A Prediction

Within one year after the 500 acres now offered are sold, the original purchasers will be able to dispose of their holdings at an advance of not less than $250 per acre—not alone on account of the intrinsic value of the property, but on account of the opportunity, that is, to acquire a piece of income property on such terms that the established earning capacity will pay for the property itself inside the purchase time.

LAND BOOM IN THE LOST HILLS

DISCOVERY OF LIGHT OIL REA-SON FOR MOVEMENT.

ASSOCIATED ALREADY THERE
AS PURCHASER.

GENERAL NEWS OF INTEREST
FROM OIL FIELDS.

There has been considerable of a land boom in the Lost Hills oil country since the reports of the strike of light oil have been coming in. Land buyers from all sections are going into the country every day and much of the territory has already been purchased outright or taken under option.

The report from the north is to the effect that the largest investor in land in this prospective oil field is the Associated Oil Company. This big corporation is said to have bought and optioned several thousand acres. One report has it that the Associated has acquired and planned to acquire over 20,000 acres. One of the tracts purchased by the Associated is the Greenbaum land, over 2000 acres and it is claimed that the price was about $15,000.

The land is situated several miles southerly from the southern end of the hills out on the eastern flank. In a direct line with the supposed trend of the oil formation. Other land it is said has sold as high as $200 an acre. The Associated will put several strings of tools to work as soon as they can get material on the ground, and will pipe water from Tulare lake.

MIDWAY UNION SELLS.

NEW BLOOD IN COMPANY.

The Midway Union Oil Company has sold 400 of its 600 acres of land in the San Joaquin country to E. P. Gable and associates of Pittsburgh for a sum said to be $15,000. The new owners agreed to purchase at once all the material in the hands of the company, and also assumes the contract to drill five wells made by the Midway Union, which would have cost $200,000.

The Midway Union retains 100 acres and has an option to purchase 200 more at $1500 an acre. R. H. Gibson, president of the Indian Refining Company of Cincinnati, is a new director, showing that the Indian Refining Company has a large interest in the Midway Union.

WILL GO IT ALONE.

HENDERSON TO OPERATE.

E. B. Henderson, general manager of the Palmer Oil Company, has bought 547 acres of oil land in the west of Santa Paula from C. A. Burrows, the property of the Old Wheeler Canyon Oil Company, on which there are now five wells, all less than 100 feet deep, which have been pumping for twenty years and producing 30 gravity oil.

Mr. Henderson purchased the land and himself and has no intention of running a store company to operate the property. He has had a deep test hole, the first in this immediate vicinity. The property is not far from the old Wild Bill well, which was brought in about twenty years ago by the Union Oil Company.

GOOD MONEY FOR OIL.

WHITE STAR IS IN LUCK.

The White Star Oil Company has just completed its well No. 1 in Little Hope, Ventura county, at a depth of 160 feet. The production is estimated at 100 barrels a day on the pump. The company's well No. 2 is making 250 barrels daily and the oil from both wells is 34 gravity. Both of these wells are of about the same depth, similar in character and close together.

All of the production of the company is contracted to the Danmore-Stabler refinery, a city at $1.35 a barrel and is shipping to market daily and keeping two strings of tools running. No dividends have yet been paid and the stock is not listed on the local stock exchange.

WORKING IN THE EAST MIDWAY.

PYRAMID OIL COMPANY.

Interest in the East Midway district is at present centering around the drilling operations of the Pyramid Oil Company on section 15-22-23 in this vicinity. It has its first well on this ground down to a depth of something over 600 feet at which depth they are in a hard shell with a considerable flow of gas. According to Superintendent Howk this shows that the Pyramid is deeper on the formation than the Honolulu Consolidated, which is drilling on section 12, 13 and 24-25-26 to the west, indicating that all wells encountered at a shallower depth than it has been found heretofore in this vicinity.

In all the Pyramid company is operating approximately 1500 acres, having 41 per share, with a little more than 600,000 issued, the balance remaining in the company's treasury.

DRILLING WITH A ROTARY.

ON THE WOLFESKILL LEASE.

The Amalgamated Oil Company has just started drilling with a rotary on the Wolfeskill No. 59 on the east line of that lease in the Salt Lake field. This new work is the most southerly on the property. The new well to the north is No. 58, now down 370 feet. No new work has been started on the Gilles lease recently.

The big well, the Wolfeskill No. 22, continues to flow and after twenty days it has a daily production of 200 barrels. The two gas wells are yielding enough fuel for use on the lease.

Situation is Pleasing.

The outlook for a good increase in the production of oil throughout the field east of Los Angeles is very promising, and there is no probability of overproduction. A large proportion of the product is of a refining quality and there is always a strong demand for it at top prices. In the Whittier field there the several new wells in the field and the prospects are good for increased production. The same

One of the tracts purchased by the Associated is the Grantham land of over 3000 acres, and it is claimed that the price was about $1000.

The land is situated several miles south of the southern end of the hills out on the flat plains, but in a direct line with the supposed trend of the oil formation. Other land it is said has sold as high as $200 an acre. The Associated will put several strings of wells at work as soon as they can get material on the ground, and will pump water from Tulare lake.

MIDWAY UNION SELLS.

NEW BLOOD IN COMPANY.

The Midway Union Oil Company has sold 400 of its 500 acres of land in the San Joaquin country to E. P. Gable and associates of Pittsburg for a sum said to be $125,000. The new owners agreed to purchase at cost price all the material in the hands of the company, and also assumes the contract to drill five wells made by the Midway Union, which would have cost $250,000. The Midway Union retains 100 acres and has an option to purchase 200 more at $1250 an acre. R. H. Gibson, president of the Indian Refining Company of Cincinnati, is a new director, showing that the Indian Refining Company has secured a large interest in the Midway Union.

WILL GO IT ALONE.

HENDERSON TO OPERATE.

E. E. Henderson, general manager of the Palmer Oil Company, has bought 500 acres of oil land ten miles west of Santa Paula from C. A. Burrows the property of the old Wheeler Oil Company, on which there are now five wells, all less than 100 feet in depth, which have been pumping for twenty years and produce gravity oil. Henderson purchased the land at $1000 an acre and has no intention of selling a stock company to operate the property. He has material for ten wells ready and will sink a deep well, the first in this immediate vicinity. The property is not far from the old Wild Hill well, which was bought in about twenty years ago by the Union Oil Company.

GOOD MONEY FOR OIL.

WHITE STAR IS IN LUCK.

The White Star Oil Company has completed its well No. 6 in Little River, Ventura county, at a depth of 100 feet. The production is estimated at 100 barrels a day on the pump. The company's well No. 5 is making 200 barrels daily and the oil has both wells in 24 gravity. Both of these wells are of about the same depth, similar in character and close together.

WORKING IN THE EAST MIDWAY.

PYRAMID OIL COMPANY.

Work is at present centering around the drilling operations of the Pyramid Oil Company on section 18-23-25. This company is operating 1600 acres in this vicinity. It has its first well on the ground down to a depth of 100 feet, at which depth it is in a hard shell with a considerable flow of gas. According to Superintendent Howitt this well is the deepest in the area. The company is operating approximately 1600 acres, having holdings in North Midway's San Joaquin territory, Santa Paula, and Santa River. The company is capitalized for 1,000,000 shares of a par value of $1 per share, with a little more than 600,000 issued, the balance being in the company's treasury.

DRILLING WITH A ROTARY.

THE WOLFSKILL LEASE.

The Amalgamated Oil Company has started drilling with a rotary on the Wolfskill No. 19 on the east line of the Wolfskill lease in the Salt Lake field. The new work is the most southerly in the property. The next well to be drilled is No. 20, now down 2700 feet. The new work has been started on the Wolfskill No. 22. It has a daily production of 100 barrels. The two gas wells are producing enough fuel for use on the property.

Situation is Pleasing.

Outlook for a good increase in the production of oil throughout the Los Angeles area is very promising and there is no probability of a depression. A large proportion of the product is of a refining quality and there is always a strong demand for it. The prices of the oil are the highest since the several new wells in the area and the prospects are good for increased production. The same thing holds good with the Fullerton field.

Pays Extra Dividend.
The Fullerton Oil Company, operating in the Olinde and Brea Canyon fields, has just paid its regular quarterly dividends of 5 cents a share and an extra dividend of like amount, making a total quarterly disbursement of $60,000. Extra dividends of 5 cents a share were also paid in the first and second quarters of this year.

Reaps Get Big Acreage.

The Reeds, father and son, who formed the Reed Crude Oil Company, in Kern River, have acquired recently 20,000 acres of land north of Sacramento, on which they believe the indications are very good for oil. While they have done no work on the land so far, others are wildcatting on adjoining land that will prove up some of the Reed land if it is struck.

In Santa Paula Canyon.

The Reed Oil and Asphalt Company has three strings running in Santa Paula Canyon and has several new rigs erected. Its No. 30 well, which has just been completed and put on the pump, shows a lighter oil than is found in the adjoining wells and gives indications of becoming a big producer. The company's oil is all of a heavy variety, mostly fuel and road oil. Attempts to go deeper and get a lighter oil have so far failed.

Will Visit All Oil Fields.

Capt. J. F. Lucy, one of the best known oil well supply men in the state, has decided to take a vacation making visits to oil fields in California, Mexico and Canada, and will make a thorough study of them.

Investigating Oil Land Titles.

An agent of the General Land Office is now in this state investigating the physical condition of every quarter section of land withdrawn from entry as unpatented oil lands. Members of the Western Oil Producers' Association are requested to afford the Government agent every assistance.

By Tom Pile

The iron bed which Procrustes prepared for his victims, and to which he fastened them by the process of cutting slices from the extremities of tall men and pulling apart the joints of short men, was elastic and accommodating compared with the common law of England as it has sometimes been erroneously interpreted by our courts. The truth is that the common law, even in England, is not a collection of inflexible, despotic and unreasonable rules—it is an elastic and progressive system. It is not a collection of petrified maxims—it is a growing and expansive philosophy. It is not a fossilized skeleton, it is a living pulse. It is not a mummified mammal, it is an affluent beast.

When the civilization of northern Europe was young, the common law grew amid the fens and fields and forests of the British Islands. The ancient Britons who battled against Caesar preserved its rude traditions even against the Pandects which were borne upon the spears of triumphant Rome. The Vikings who battled with the tenants of the North Sea acknowledged its just and equal way. The conquering Normans assailed not the parent tree, but grafted further customs upon its spreading boughs.

From Lancaster to York, from Flan-taget to Tudor, from Stuart to Brunswick it grew. It reached its vast proportions across oceans and like the branches of the banyan tree became rooted in every soil it touched. "Every man's house his castle," "Every man's liberty his right," "To every man his day in court before a jury of his peers." These, its mighty maxims, were woven into the texture of human thought, wherever the feet of the faxon wandered, wherever the voice of the faxon disturbed the forest solitude.

There is no common law of America. Law is the creature of a statute with us. It cannot be created here by custom as it is in England. The common law of England exists in California only because the legislature of California enacted a statute adopting it.

When the legislature of a state adopts the common law of England as a rule of decision in its courts, it is understood to adopt it as it existed at the time of our Declaration of Independence. Customs created in England since 1776, and Acts of Parliament passed since then, though they may change the common law in England, do not change it with us unless it is changed by statute. It follows that common law rules abolished in England since 1776 may still be a part of the law here, though no part of the law in England, and that common law rights which have been abolished since 1776 in England by Acts of Parliament are, unless they have been abrogated by statute here, still in existence here.

It is a singular fact that trial by wager of battle in England existed as a common law right until early in the reign of George the Fourth, when some person who was accused of crime claimed it. This seemingly absurd but technically legal claim called the attention of Parliament to the subject. The right of trial by wager of battle, it has never been abolished in California and consequently exists here. We trust that no serious labor leader will take advantage of its being in existence here and claim a right to have his case decided by a jury in the jail. Should he do so it would be up to the Board of Supervisors to retain Mr. Jefferson as assistant prosecuting attorney—that is, if he has not already recovered from the results of his debate with Mr. Johnson.

There is a provision in the Penal Code of California to the effect that crimes not enumerated therein which are crimes at common law are likewise crimes here of the same grade. The strict enforcement of this section of the Penal Code might lead to some embarrassing results. For instance, it was a crime at common law, punishable with imprisonment and fine, to sign more than twenty names to a petition to the King or other names to a petition to the House of Commons, without the consent of the House of Commons. This offense was called "seditious petitioning." Let every man who is asked to sign a petition to Congress for a harbor appropriation, or a friend's application to tariff for a commodity look about him—other names to the paper or bustle.

At common law it was an offense punishable with imprisonment and loss of the left hand to transport sheep out of the kingdom. Let the farmers of Imperial Valley look out how they supply the cotton colonists in California with mutton on the hoof.

At common law he who bought any grain on his way to market, in which he bought it, and he who bought any grain in the intention of holding it for a higher price, each subject to fine and imprisonment. These offenses were called "forestalling," "regrating," and "engrossing." If that law should be enforced here we might see the grain speculators in Los Angeles in the custody of a Deputy Sheriff.

At common law all persons involving any evil spirit or consulting any evil spirit were guilty of a capital felony. Keep away from the mediums, friends, and Chinamen, deposit your more cooked food on the graves of your departed friends, or you may all go hang.

If we followed the common law rule no person could be legally elected mayor or alderman of any city unless within one year before his election he had received the sacrament of the Lord's Supper according to the rites of the Church of England. The enforcement of that law would leave the Los Angeles Council without a quorum.

At common law it was an offense punishable with imprisonment in the pillory to provoke unlawful love. "And this act," says Blackstone, "was enacted in force till lately, to the terror of all ancient females in the kingdom." Under the common law it was the right of the husband to discipline a recalcitrant spouse by tying her in a chair fastened to a plank overhanging a stream or pond and then plunging her in the water until she promised to be a better wife.

We take this opportunity to express our heartfelt sympathy to the owners and managers of The Times in their great misfortune.

We know and feel that this trouble will only be a stepping stone to greater prosperity.

May The Times Live and Prosper.

A first essential in selecting bonds for investment is the recommendation of a responsible and conservative banking house of large experience, having a definite system of safeguards for investors from the day their money is invested until the final payment of interest and principal. We are prepared to render this service, and in buying bonds of this institution the investor secures the benefit of the extensive experience and trained judgment which have proved satisfactory to what we believe is the largest list of individual investors served by any banking house in the country. In addition to this large number of customers

SALMAGUNDE

By Tom Fitch

The iron band which Procrustes prepared for his victims, and to which he fitted them by the process of cutting slices from the extremities of tall men and pulling apart the joints of short men, was elastic and accommodating compared with the common law of England as it has sometimes been erroneously interpreted by our courts.

The truth is that the common law, even in England, is not a collection of inflexible, despotic and unreasonable rules—it is an elastic and progressive system. It is not a collection of petrified maxims—it is a growing and expansive philosophy. It is not a fleshless skeleton, it is a living pulse. It is not a mummified mammal, it is an affable beast.

When the civilization of northern Europe was young, the common law grew amid the fens and fields and forests of the British islands. The ancient Britons who battled against Caesar preserved its rude traditions even against the Pandects which were borne upon the spears of triumphant Rome. The Vikings who battled with the tenants of the North Sea acknowledged its just and equal sway. The conquering Normans assailed not the parent tree, but grafted further customs upon its spreading boughs.

From Lancaster to York, from Plantagenet to Tudor, from Stuart to Brunswick it grew. It reached its vast proportions across oceans and like the branches of the bayonet tree became rooted in every soil it touched. "Every man's house his castle," "Every man's liberty his right." "To every man his day in court before a jury of his peers." These, its mighty maxims, were woven into the texture of human thought, wherever the feet of the Saxon wandered, wherever the voice of the Saxon disturbed the forest solitude.

There is no common law of America. Law is the creature of a statute with us. It cannot be created here by custom as it is in England. The common law of England exists in California only because the legislature of California enacted a statute adopting it.

When the legislature of a state adopts the common law of England as a rule of decision in its courts, it is understood to adopt it as it existed at the time of our Declaration of Independence. Customs created in England since 1776, and Acts of Parliament passed since then, though they may change the common law in England, do not change it with us unless it is changed by statute. It follows that common law rules abolished in England since 1776 may still be a part of the law here, though no part of the law in England, and that common law rights which have been abolished since 1776 in England by Act of Parliament are, unless they have been abrogated by statute here, still in existence here.

It is a singular fact that trial by wager of battle in England existed as a common law right until early in the reign of George the Fourth, when some person who was accused of crime claimed it. This apparently absurd but technically legal claim called the attention of Parliament to the subject and an act was passed abolishing the right of trial by wager of battle. It has never been abolished in California, and consequently exists here. We trust that no ruthless labor leader will take advantage of its being in existence here and claim a right to have his case decided by a mill in the yard with the District Attorney. Should he do so it would be up to the Board of Supervisors to retain Mr. Jeffries as assistant prosecuting attorney—that is, if he has sufficiently recovered from the results of his debate with Mr. Johnson.

There is a provision in the Penal Code of California to the effect that crimes not enumerated therein which are crimes at common law are likewise crimes here of the same grade. The strict enforcement of this section of the Penal Code might lead to some embarrassing results. For instance, it was a crime at common law, punishable more than twenty years to a term in the State Prison, to "steal from the King or either House of Parliament, without the contents being previously approved by three Justices of the Peace. This offense was called "disseminating petitioning." Let every man who is asked to sign a petition to Congress for a harbor light, or a petition for a postmaster's look to it that there are not more than nineteen other names to the paper or bustle.

At common law it was an offense punishable with imprisonment and loss of the left hand to transport sheep out of the kingdom. Let the farmers of Imperial Valley look out how they supply the cotton colonists in Lower California with mutton on the hoof.

At common law he who bought any grain on his way to market, he who sold any grain within four miles of where he bought it, or who bought any grain with the intention of holding it for a higher price, was subject to fine and imprisonment. These offenses were called "forestalling," "regrating," and "engrossing." If that law should be enforced here we might see the grain speculators in Los Angeles in the custody of a Deputy Sheriff.

At common law all persons invoking any evil spirit or consulting any evil spirit were guilty of a capital felony. Keep away from the mediums, friends, and Chinamen, deposit no more cooked food on the graves of your departed friends, or you may all go hang.

If we followed the common law rule no person could be legally elected mayor or alderman of any city unless within one year before his election he had received the sacrament of the Lord's Supper according to the rites of the Church of England. The enforcement of that law would leave the Los Angeles Council without a quorum.

At common law it was an offense punishable with imprisonment in the Tower, to provoke unlawful love. "And this act," says Blackstone, "continued in force till lately, to the terror of all ancient females in the kingdom."

Under the common law it was the duty of the husband to discipline his wife by flogging her in a public place, or by plunging her in the water until she promised to be better behaved for the future.
